

Download Architectural Principles In The Age Of Humanism

Architecture is both the process and the product of planning, designing, and constructing buildings or any other structures. Architectural works, in the material form of buildings, are often perceived as cultural symbols and as works of art. Historical civilizations are often identified with their surviving architectural achievements. The Age of Enlightenment (also known as the Age of Reason or simply the Enlightenment) was an intellectual and philosophical movement that dominated the world of ideas in Europe during the 18th century, the "Century of Philosophy".. Some consider Descartes' 1637 statement "I think, therefore I am" to have sparked the period. Others cite the publication of Isaac Newton's Principia Mathematica ... Humanism - The 14th century: During the 14th century, humanism strengthened, diversified, and spread, with Florence remaining at its epicentre. The three figures who were most critical to the rise of the humanist movement during this period were Petrarch, Boccaccio, and Salutati. The influence of Petrarch was profound and multifaceted. He promoted the recovery and transcription of Classical ... The Humanities in Architectural Design Offering considerations of the impact which the humanities have had on the processes of architecture and design and subsequently defending their continued relevance, this book explores the issues from both historical and contemporary perspectives.