The task of designing services within buildings is now frequently carried out using building energy and environmental modelling (BEEM) software. This Application Manual (AM), released from the Chartered Institution of Building Services Engineers (CIBSE) is a revision of the original AM10 published in 1997, when a considerable expansion of interest was seen in the field of natural ventilation in non-domestic buildings. The updated document aims to enhance the guidance offered to designers and users of naturally

The new AM11 Building performance modelling (BPM) manual is now available. This publication replaces the Applications Manual Building Energy Environment Modelling, and has been completely rewritten to extend the application of building modelling to many areas that currently need to be properly addressed in building and system design.
