

Download Skin And The Integumentary System Study Guide

The integumentary system is an organ system consisting of the skin, hair, nails, and exocrine glands. The skin is only a few millimeters thick yet is by far the largest organ in the body. Integumentary System. You wake up to walk the dog and step outside into what feels like a sauna! Within minutes, you're sweating! Where does the sweat come from? Question: Which organ system includes skin, nails and hair? The Organ Systems. We have many different organ systems in the human body. Each organ system has specific functions, and those functions ... The integument as an organ: The integument as an organ, and is an alternative name for skin. The integumentary system includes the skin and the skin derivatives hair, nails, and glands. The integument is the body's largest organ and accounts for 15% of body weight.