Horizons In Cancer Research

Childhood cancer is rare but is the most common disease-related cause of death in Canadian children. Learn about childhood cancer statistics for Canada. Cancer statistics tell us how many people in Canada are diagnosed with and die from cancer each year. They show us the trends in new cancer cases and cancer deaths. Cancer is a group of diseases involving abnormal cell growth with the potential to invade or spread to other parts of the body. These contrast with benign tumors, which do not spread. Possible signs and symptoms include a lump, abnormal bleeding, prolonged cough, unexplained weight loss and a change in bowel movements. While these symptoms may indicate cancer, they can also have other causes. ScienceDirect is the world's leading source for scientific, technical, and medical research.
